BECOMING THE TRUSTEE OF A FAMILY TRUST:

HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM PERSONAL LIABILITY

A Litigator's Perspective

Learn the ways you can protect yourself from the risks of potential personal liability and still accept trusteeship when you've been asked to act as a trustee of a family trust.

- Make an informed decision
- Recognize red flags
- Avoid potential liabilities

Speaker Henry Novoselsky routinely sees the problems and costly liabilities that an uninformed and unprotected trustee can encounter and incur. Please join him for this enlightening session...you never know when a friend or relative may ask you to agree to manage and invest their family trust.

HENRY N. NOVOSELSKY, J.D.

Henry Novoselsky is a partner at Shaheen, Novoselsky, Staat, Filipowski & Eccleston, P.C. where he focuses his practice on estate and trust litigation.

Henry represents clients in contested estate and trust matters, such as will and trust contests, trust enforcement, construction and reformation, breach of fiduciary duty claims, and contested disability guardianship proceedings.

He has practiced civil litigation in Illinois and Federal trial and appellate courts for almost 40 years. He has been instrumental in shaping the law of Illinois and has established important precedents in estate and trust law.

Henry earned his J.D. from DePaul University in 1966. He is A-V Peer Review rated by Martindale-Hubbell, representing professional excellence at the highest levels of skill and integrity. Earlier this year, Henry was recognized as a 2006 Illinois Super Lawyer, an award given to the top 5% of Illinois attorneys as selected by their peers.

He has served as an Administrative Law Judge for the Illinois Department of Revenue and as a Hearing Examiner for the Illinois Commerce Commission.
